Welcome to our Winter 2024 edition.

The 2023/2024 international championship season was crucial to every serious athlete competing at this level. Squarely in the middle of an Olympic cycle with the next Winter Games only two short years away, makes many skaters evaluate their personal goals and career ambitions moving forward.

Teams from Australia and New Zealand are a mixture of veterans and fresh faces eager to make their mark on the sport. From the get go, it is clear this elite group is hungry to make the most of every opportunity and to do their best.

Testing their programs on the ISU Challenger Series and other important events around the globe, both countries sent teams to the ISU Junior and ISU Senior Grand Prix Series, followed by the ISU Four Continents Championships, the ISU World Junior Championships, the ISU Senior World Championships, the ISU World Junior Synchronized Skating Championships and the ISU Senior Synchronized Skating Championships.

Season highlights included:

- Hana Bath's strong debut in Women's Singles on the ISU Junior Grand Prix Series circuit.
- Holly Harris & Jason Chan continuing to build on their impressive resume with personal best scores for free dance and overall (at the 2024 Four Continents Championships).
- Anastasia Golubeva's and Hektor Giotopoulos-Moore's successful ISU Grand Prix Series debut where they finished a strong fourth against seasoned veterans at both Skate Canada International in Vancouver and the NHK Trophy in Osaka, Japan.
- The thrilling comeback from injury of USA's Naomi Williams and Australia's Lachlan Lewer. Competing in Junior Pairs' for Team USA, the couple exceeded (their own) expectations with podium placements at both the 2024 U.S. National Championships and later, the 2024 ISU World Junior Championships as well.
- New Zealand's Yanhao Li's surprise medals at both the ISU Junior Grand Prix in Bangkok, Thailand, and the 2024 Winter Youth Olympic Games in Gangwon, Korea.

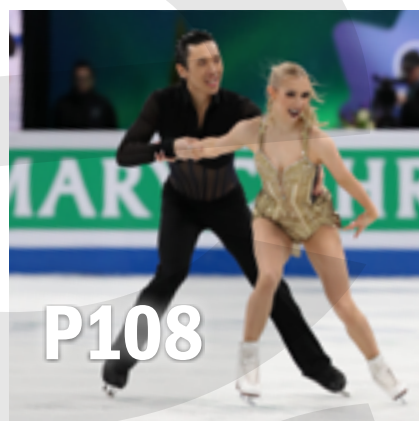

Once again, aussieSKATES acknowledges the ISU for generously providing virtual media passes to both the 2024 Four Continents Championships and the 2024 Senior World Championships, connecting us with athletes in the mixed zone, and the ability to watch press conferences online live.

As always we would like to thank renowned sports photographer, Robin Ritoss. Robin kindly supplied us with stunning images of Australia's and New Zealand's representatives in action, from the various competitions she has photographed this season.

Happy browsing.

Senior Grand Prix Series

Team Australia competes at the ISU 2023/2024 Grand Prix Championship Series

Launched for the 1995/1996 season, the ISU Grand Prix Series is a round robin tourney consisting of six international events. Berths are determined by ISU World Rankings and special invitations offered to the cream of the sport's elite from around the globe.

Run over six consecutive weeks every October to November, Men and Women's Singles, Pairs and Ice Dancers compete for points, podium placements, and prize money. From there, the top six ranked individuals or teams from each division qualify to compete in a grand final held in early December.

Prior to the 2023/2024 season, local stars who have earned spots at this prestigious series include: Ekaterina Alexandrovskaya & Harley Windsor (2018 Rostelecom Cup & Skate Canada International, 2019 Skate America), Joanne Carter (1997 NHK Trophy, 2005 Skate Canada International), Kailani Craine (2017 Skate Canada, 2018 NHK Trophy, 2019 Cup of China & NHK Trophy), Brooklee Han (2014 Skate America & Skate Canada International, 2015 Grand Prix de France), Holly Harris & Jason Chan (2022 Skate America & Skate Canada International), Brendan Kerry (2015 NHK Trophy & Skate America, 2016 Grand Prix de France & Skate America, 2017 Skate Canada International, 2018 Rostelecom Cup & Skate Canada International, 2019 Cup of China & Skate Canada International, 2021 Rostelecom Cup), Anthony Liu (1999 NHK Trophy & Skate America, 2000 NHK Trophy, 2001 NHK Trophy) and Miriam Manzano (2002 Skate America, 2004 NHK Trophy & Skate America, 2005 NHK Trophy).

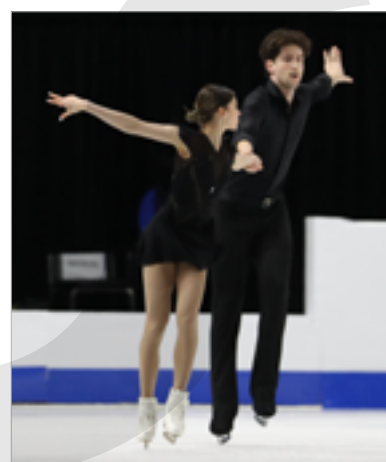

Competing against the sport's best including USA's 2023 World Champions, Madison Chock and Evan Bates, Holly Harris & Jason Chan made a return trip to Skate America (in Allen, Texas) where the team placed a solid tenth in the ice dancing event.

Anastasia Golubeva's and Hektor Giotopoulos-Moore's eighth place finish at the 2023 World Championships in Saitama, earned them automatic selection for two Grand Prix Series stops. The pair impressed judges and audiences alike in their Senior GP debut, finishing fourth at both the 2023 Skate Canada International in Vancouver, British Columbia and the 2023 NHK Trophy in Osaka, Japan.

Naomi Williams & Lachlan Lewer

The rising junior pairs skating stars hit their stride with medals in Columbus, Ohio and Taipei City, Taiwan

Naomi Williams and Lachlan Lewer combined forces only six months prior to the 2023 U.S. Figure Skating Championships. At the time, Lewer's previous partnership dissolved and Williams had little pairs' experience. Yet somehow against these odds, the team showed immediate promise. (Though he trains year round with Williams in Colorado Springs under Drew Meekins, Natalia Mishkutienok, Danny O'Shea and Edwin Shipstad, Lewer maintains his membership at the Boondall Figure & Ice Skating Club in Brisbane.)

Finding themselves on the national podium in San Jose, California, Williams and Lewer were invited to compete at the 2023 ISU World Junior Figure Skating Championships in Calgary, Canada. Together, they skated well in both portions at the event to place a commendable seventh.

Hoping to build on this momentum for the 2023/2024 international season, the team faced a significant setback when Williams was injured. Sadly, the pair entered but withdrew from two ISU Junior Grand Prix Series stops. Even in the weeks leading up to the 2024 U.S. Championships, it was unknown whether or not they would be able to compete.

Monitoring Williams' rehabilitation, that the couple repeated as silver medalists was a testament to their drive and determination. As O'Shea, one of their four coaches said in the Kiss & Cry after the short program, "Think of where we were a couple of months ago. Unsure about being here. This is awesome. I'm proud of you."

Three pairs from the United States would qualify for the World Junior Championships in Taipei City. Williams and Lewer skated very well in the short program, earning a personal best for their performance. Their dynamic skate set to 'Joli Garcon' by Pink Martini was packed with choreographic interest. Using last season's free skate to selections from 'Miss Saigon' (by Claude Michael Schoenberg) for a second year was the right choice. It was clear this is a routine with which they are very comfortable. Of the seventeen elements they completed for the short program and the free skate in Taiwan, fifteen were given positive grades of execution.

The pair were interviewed by Golden Skate in Taiwan, with Williams saying: "It means the world for us to be here. I needed surgery because of ligament problems, it was a really tough season. So this is only our second competition. We came in here with no huge pressure and placement expectations, just so happy to be here." Lewer also revealed how two weeks prior to competition, the athlete injured himself. But working with the medical team on site, he was simply happy to compete.

Placing fourth in both portions at the 2024 World Junior Championships, Williams and Lewer took the overall bronze medal with their team mates and training partners, Olivia Flores and Luke Wang earning silver. While Lewer will still be age - eligible at the international junior in 2024/2025, the pair will look to consider skating in senior competition next year at the national level.

Four Continents Championships

Team Australia competes at the ISU 2024 Four Continents Figure Skating Championships

As one of the sport's recent super powers, China's meteoric rise made the rest of the world sit up and take notice. In the 25 year history of Four Continents, China has won 18 gold, 14 silver and 14 bronze for a grand total of 46 medals. Notable athletes to make the podium for the billion-strong nation includes:

Jin Boyang (2018 Men's Singles Champion), Peng Cheng & Zhang Hao (2015 Pairs Singles Silver Medalists), Peng Cheng & Jin Yang (2020 Pairs Silver Medalists), Li Chengjiang (2001 Men's Singles Champion), Zhang Dan & Zhang Hao (2 - Time Pairs Champions), Yan Han (3 - Time Men's Singles Bronze Medalist), Zhang Min (2002 Men's Singles Silver Medalist), Pang Qing & Tong Jian (5 - Time Pairs Champions), Gao Song (2002 Men's Singles Bronze Medalist), Yu Xiaoyu & Jin Yang (2016 Pairs Bronze Medalists), and Li Zijun (2014 Women's Singles Bronze Medalist)

Hosting the event in 2024 at the Oriental Sports Center, nine years ago in 2015 Shanghai made ISU history by becoming the first Chinese city to stage a World Senior Championships (in the very same venue).

Event highlights included Canada's Deanna Stellato-Dudek and Maxime Deschamps memorable victory in the Pairs' Event. Stellato-Dudek's comeback story is well-known. A former Women's Singles skater for the United States of America who retired from competition in 2001, she returned in 2016 and skated with USA's Nate Bartholomay before teaming up with Deschamps three years later. At 40 years of age, she is the oldest Women's gold medal championship winner in ISU history.

For only the fourth time, Australia entered athletes across all four disciplines. A mixture of veterans and athletes new to this level of competition, this year's team comprised of two men's singles, two women's singles, two ice dance couples, and a pair team. Making their respective debuts, Maria Chernyshova (Women's Singles) and Charlton Doherty (Men's Singles), worked very hard during the international season to earn the TES qualification scores necessary to compete in Shanghai. Such was the standard of the event. Competing at this event also for the first time, Australia's two - time World Junior Pairs Silver Medalists, Anastasia Golubeva and Hektor Giotopoulos - Moore, skated to a strong fourth place. Many observers felt they should have won the free skate. Other performances of note included Holly Harris & Jason Chan placing ninth in Ice Dance and Darian Kaptich working the crowd with a 21st finish in Men's Singles.

World Junior Championships

Team Australia and Team New Zealand compete at the ISU 2024 World Junior Figure Skating Championships

Staging the event for a second time in seven years, Taipei City in Taiwan last hosted the ISU World Junior Figure Skating Championships in 2017. At that event, Australia made history when the team of Ekaterina Alexandrovskaya & Harley Windsor won the Pairs' title against three strong rival couples from Russia.

Highlights from this year's competition included:

Back to back victories in Women's Singles from Japan's Mao Shimada (who took gold in 2023), Korea's Seo Min-kyu topping the podium in Men's Singles (which was a first in the division for that country), Georgia's Anastasiia Metelkina & Luka Berulava winning the Pairs' event. Berulava previously won the championship in 2022 with his former partner, Karina Safina, and Team USA winning silver and bronze in the Pairs event as well.

The last time the country earned two medals in that category was in 2006.

Making her debut on the ISU Junior Grand Prix Series circuit this season, Australia's Hana Bath shone at both of her events in Bangkok (where she finished 13th) and Osaka (sixth place). Already known for her powerhouse jumping and spinning ability on the national stage, Bath impressed everyone with her confidence and attack.

Bath has attempted the triple axel in competition; it should only be only a matter of time until the jump is ratified. Skating with joyful ease in Taipei, the youngster will surely be a name to watch in the years to come.

Across the pond, Yanhou Li made everyone sit up and take notice with a historic medal for New Zealand at the ISU Junior Grand Prix of Bangkok. His podium finish was the first time the country won a medal of any colour at an ISU Junior Grand Prix event. Later, Li added to that haul with a surprise bronze at the 2024

Youth Olympics in Gangwon, South Korea.

Considered a pre-competition medal hopeful in Taipei, Li struggled in the short program. Ranked 23rd, he bounded back with a strong eighth place in the free skate to finish 12th overall.

World Senior Championships

Team Australia competes at the ISU 2024 World Figure Skating Championships

Four years ago Canada was all set to host the World Figure Skating Championships. Having had the privilege to experience this event on Canadian soil several times in person, we can personally attest to the knowledgeable crowds, genuine support for every athlete or team when they skated, and the electrifying atmosphere during and after a great performance first hand.

In previous years, North American cities which won the anchoring rights include: London (2013), Calgary (2006, 1972), Vancouver (2001, 1960), Edmonton (1996), Halifax (1990), Ottawa (1984, 1978), and Montreal (1932).

How fitting that Quebec's largest city would come full circle, almost 90 years after presenting such a prestigious and historic moment on Canadian ice for the very first time. In the days leading up to the 2020 Championships, tickets had been sold. Merchandise was manufactured and ready for purchase. Banners and billboards advertising the event peppered the city streets and suburbs of Montreal. Skaters from around the globe were in the process of converging on the Bell Centre for what was going to be a jam-packed week. Prior to the event, traditional powerhouse nations such as China, France, Japan, Korea, Russia, U.S.A. and Canada dominated the international season.

Then COVID-19 struck and the world shut down. In what seemed like a lifetime since that fateful cancellation, take two highlighted some thrilling moments including:

Deanna Stellato-Dudek and Maxime Deschamps historic victory for Canada in the Pairs' Event, Their team mates, Piper Gilles and Paul Poirier topping the free to take overall silver in Ice Dance, Adam Siao Him Fa of France, digging deep and making a staggering climb from a disastrous 19th place after the short program to the Men's Singles podium and a bronze medal, Kaori Sakamoto of Japan's three-peat win in Women's Singles, a first since Peggy Fleming achieved the same feat 56 years prior in 1968 for U.S.A, and U.S.A. Ilia Malinin's phenomenal free skate featuring six quadruple jumps, earning him a world record score.

Team Australia keenly built on their earlier momentum in the season. Holly Harris & Jason Chan skated two excellent routines in the highly-competitive Ice Dancing competition. Meanwhile, Anastasia Golubeva & Hektor Giotopoulos-Moore maintained a solid top-ten finish after 2023 in the equally cutthroat Pairs' Event.

World Senior Synchronized

Team Australia competes at the ISU 2024 World Synchronized Skating Championships

Along with adult masters, synchronized skating is the bread and butter of the sport down under.

At the Australian National Championships last December in New South Wales, more than 36 teams competed across eight separate skill levels. The division is so popular, it dominated several full days in the intense week-long schedule.

Held since 2000, the World Synchronized Skating Championships is a two-part competition which attracts the very best senior level elite teams from around the world. This year the event featured 21 squads from 17 countries in total. Each nation's entry must number between 16 and 20 skaters.

World championships are made up of a short program and a free skate.

Both routines feature required elements such as choreographic sequences, blocks, circles, lines and wheels. These manoeuvres must be performed as a full team, or in multiple pairs, trios and quartets,

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of this discipline is both women and men are allowed to compete together on the ice. Furthermore, some of the more physically demanding elements such as group spins and rotational or carry lifts, may be executed by both genders at the same time.

Australia's entrant for the 2024 Championships was Team Unity. Based in Sydney (New South Wales), its members were coached by Madonna Randall and Georgina Williams.

For their short program, the team performed to 'Golden Hour' by JVKE. For the free skate, their music was 'Fall, Cleaning Apartment' by Kronos Quartet, 'In This Shirt' by The Irrepressibles, and 'Lord and Master' by Apashe. Team Unity also achieved season best scores at these World Championships in the short program, the free skate, and overall.
